

Ethan Adams

Scenario:

You are a daily commuter to work in New York City. You recently purchased a bike to make the commute easier and shorter, and would like a bike tracking system to further protect the bike as well as making it easy to find.

Task 1:

Register an account and register your product for the first time.

Task 2:

You are storing the tracker in your backpack and want to save its battery. Disable tracking on the app.

Task 3:

You want to set alerts to medium strength on the app.

Notes:

Changes I should make to the application:

Reword the serial number page in account creation, rework or rename the bottom toolbar, move tracking to settings, and increase the size of the bottom toolbar.

Things I should keep the same:

Overall navigation is good and straightforward, account creation is good, good setting choices, and the map is good.